

EU SFDR: WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Who is affected by the EU SFDR?

All EU-based financial market participants (FMPs) (i.e., asset managers or firms creating investment products) as well as financial advisors (FAs) (i.e., individuals providing investment advice). FMPs and FAs who are based outside of the EU and sell products to clients in the EU are also affected.

What is the EU SFDR?

The Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR) is a new regulation from the European Union (EU) that will require financial services firms to disclose how they address the following key factors:

- Sustainability Risks – Environmental, social, or governance events or conditions, which cause a material negative impact on the value of the investment. Examples include climate change and resource scarcity.
- Principal Adverse Impacts (PAIs) – Negative, material, or potentially material effects on sustainability factors that result from, worsen, or are directly related to investment choices or advice performed by a legal entity. Examples include greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions and carbon footprint.

Why is it important?

The EU hopes to channel more investments toward sustainable investing while also mitigating greenwashing (i.e., when firms make themselves appear more environmentally responsible than they actually are).

When is it happening? SFDR Timeline – Key Dates*

* All dates are subject to change and dependent on the approval of the Regulatory Technical Standards.

What do I need to do?

Assuming there are no additional delays or changes from the EU, your organization needs to disclose its first report between July 1, 2022, and December 31, 2022, but specific information and metrics need to be captured frequently throughout the period.

Asset managers must disclose their policies at both the product and firm level.
